GrandView of Roxborough - Life Services Retirement Community

Denver, Colorado - January 20, 2009 - Colorado seniors will be the first to experience living in a Life Services Retirement Community at GrandView of Roxborough. This revolutionary concept was created to give seniors choice and control over their lives as well as true deeded ownership of their GrandView condominium home. Important benefits include having an appreciable real estate asset that can be either sold or passed on to heirs as well as having control of all services, including in-home and health support services.

At GrandView of Roxborough, seniors will enjoy a resort lifestyle with social and recreational programs and amenities, transportation to area services and conveniences, a Sundries Shoppe, maintenance-free living, and so much more. Health support services are available on an a la carte basis and
